Lab Included? Yes _______ No _______ x _______

Please provide a brief explanation of how the proposed course meets each of the criteria for the selected GE categories.

Category A-1 Oral Communication courses shall:

- Focus on communication in the English language
- Focus on the formulation and analysis of human interaction
- Prepare the student to use reasoning of both inductive and deductive types
- Address modes of argument, rhetorical perspectives, and the relationship of language to logic
- Include exploration of the psychological basis and social significance of communication.
- Require significant oral presentation
- Focus on oral as well as written communication, listening and reasoning.

Category A-2 English Writing courses shall:

- Focus on communication in the English language
- Focus on the formulation and analysis of human interaction
- Prepare the student to use reasoning of both inductive and deductive types
- Address modes of argument, rhetorical perspectives, and the relationship of language to logic
- Include exploration of the psychological basis and social significance of communication.
- Address writing as a process of human interaction
- Prepare the student for college level writing.

Explanation for A-2:

6/6/05 cp
Students in this course will be developing skills in journalism, learning how to effectively communicate information to others. They will necessarily interpret interactions in the local community and present their analysis in a logical form to educate the public about community events and situations. Students will learn different genres of journalistic writing and will consider rhetorical devices and perspectives in their presentations. This writing should prepare them to consider such issues on a deeper level in other college classes.
