Please provide a brief explanation of how the proposed course meets each of the criteria for the selected GE categories.

- C2: The texts that will be studied will include dramatic literature, generally but not exclusively Shakespeare, and critical work written about the plays. It will involve investigating historical and contemporary ideas and aesthetics and active participation in the creative experience.
- Upper Division Interdisciplinary: This course will combine literature as studied in English Literature courses, will include performance and production as found in Theater courses, and it will include elements from other disciplines as well—history (a must for Shakespeare) and psychology (audience studies).
