Please provide a brief explanation of how the proposed course meets each of the criteria for the selected General Education categories.

All Category E courses shall:

- Promote an understanding that humans, as physiological and psychological beings, exist and live in a social and physical environment.
- Focus on some aspect of human physiology, psychology, health, or physical activity.

This course will examine physical education with an in depth study of selected physical education curricula and topic areas. The course will survey existing programs in physical education and how the affective, cognitive and psychomotor domains can be blended to develop a quality program.
