Policy on <Topic of Policy>

PURPOSE:

Revise SP 03-06 for additional clarity on eligibility and length of leave.

BACKGROUND:

To encourage students to return to CSUCI, this policy will extend formal leave to probationary students and also create a provision to automatically place eligible students on leave for a second semester. Additionally, this policy will clarify that students who have not completed at least one semester at Channel Islands are typically not eligible for formal academic leave. SP 03-06 is not explicit that newly admitted students are not eligible for academic leave.

POLICY:

Accountability:

Registrar's Office; Academic Affairs

Applicability:

All undergraduate students at CSU Channel Islands considered continuing students and do not need to take any action prior to registration. To encourage continuing students to return to CSUCI following an absence, the University will automatically place eligible students on a leave of absence for a second semester.

Students are eligible to apply for a leave of absence as long as they were not academically disqualified at the close of their last completed semester and did not receive an undergraduate degree at the end of the preceding regular or Summer term at CSUCI.

Additionally, undergraduate students may apply for an extended leave of absence for up to four consecutive semesters (excluding Summer and Winter). While a student may apply for multiple leaves, no student will be permitted more than six total semesters of leave from CSU Channel Islands. An approved educational leave is not considered an interruption in attendance and students on extended leave will maintain their catalog rights.

A leave of absence is not allowed for the student's first term. However, in cases of extenuating circumstances, a student may petition for a first-term leave of absence. Extenuating circumstance is defined as verified accident, illness, military orders, or other circumstance beyond the student's control.
