Upon the recommendation of my staff, I am pleased to grant approval for California State University Channel Islands to offer the self-support Master of Science degree program in Nursing, effective fall 2020, conditional on a WASC Senior College and University Commission substantive change approval and on the existence of adequate resources. If the program is not implemented by 2025, the campus is required to submit to the Chancellor's Office an updated program proposal for review. In accordance with CSU Board of Trustees policy, performance review of this degree program should be scheduled to occur within five years of program implementation. The program has been assigned the CSU degree-program code 12032, and the CIP code is 51.3801. The campus is responsible for adding this degree program and any concentrations to the CSU Degrees Database. A change in support mode or location would require Chancellor's Office review and approval.
